

72% of Homeowners Are Dissatisfied with their Agent's Performance

The Major Reason: Poor Communication

At Micoley & Company we want our customers to be satisfied with their agent and our company, and that is why we so strongly stress a focus on good communication. When you list with Micoley & Company expect to receive regular updates on your home's activity including showings and feedback, as well as frequent analysis of how competitively your home is priced and advertised compared to the current market trends.

